Organic and sustainable produce is of great importance to us at The Boat Inn. As such, we have put together a selection of top quality organic wines that are fresh, modern and exciting.

These wines may have been made with prolonged skin contact, or perhaps have not gone through a filtering process, meaning sediment is purposefully left in the bottle adding structure and complex flavours to the final product.

New and innovative ways are always making the organic wine world more interesting each year, and they deserve to be tried by everyone.

Our Story:

In 2013 Mike and Cathi Dillon invested in a vineyard in the south of France, as a way to spend their retirement and in a country they both love. They met a very experienced English wine maker in France who had been making wine in the region for years. They went into business together and created 'Clos Ventas'. A cooling breeze passes the vines but with bags of sunshine which has produced juice that really stands out.

The vineyard has since been sold on to other passionate wine makers, and so when the Clos Ventas is gone, it will be gone forever.

Orange

Orange wine, otherwise known as skin-contact or amber wine, is made by leaving the skins of the grapes on—creating more of a robust wine but with the refreshing qualities of a white
